WRITING AND ACADEMIC RESOURCE CENTER

WARC is AUCA's primary learning support center. Its mission is to help students succeed in their courses across the curriculum with the help of formally trained peer tutors. We offer free, one-on-one tutoring sessions in most of the core subjects such as writing, mathematics, programming, economics, and others. In addition to one-on-one peer tutoring, the WARC provides workshops, group review sessions, and other assistance relevant to students' academic and professional pursuits. The WARC actively promotes a culture of writing, rhetoric, and students' active engagement in the learning process as some of the most fundamental aims of a liberal arts education.

AUCA ALUMNI

"AUCA helped me broaden my horizons, see more, and meet interesting people. I was one of the first scholarship recipients of the USCAEF program. Thanks to this grant, I successfully completed my university studies. What I like about the teaching system at AUCA is that students are taught self-learning, how to find the necessary information, and how to gain the required knowledge. AUCA community helps expand networking, and this is very helpful in life. I proudly tell everyone that I am a graduate of AUCA and I am deeply grateful to my alma mater for all the opportunities it provided me."

Nargiza Zhakypova

Economics 2012, co-founder of the American-European School and the IT Run Programming Academy

Askar Sydykov

International and Business Law 2012, and LL.M at the University of Cambridge (UK)

The most valuable aspect of AUCA is the development of critical thinking, where a person analyzes information independently, draws conclusions, and learns to work with data instead of memorizing it. This is especially important in legal studies when it's necessary to analyze a case from all angles, compare legislation with international practice, and align it with real-life situations. Another distinguishing feature of AUCA's legal program is that students are given the opportunity to master legal terms in English. This gives an advantage both when continuing education abroad and in practical work with foreign legislation, sources of information, and international partners. All these skills contribute to further development in both career and life."

AUCA GRADUATES WORK AT:

Our network of international partners gives our students the opportunity to explore the world. We offer over 70 exchange programs in more than 30 countries from Paris to Berlin, Seoul to New York.

In 2020, AUCA became one of the members of the new global Open Society University Network (OSUN). The opportunities that open up within the framework of the OSUN partner network are a unique chance for international global communication, the dissemination of knowledge, skills, and the exchange of experience, regardless of geographical borders.

EXCHANGE PROGRAMS, OSUN & BARD

Bard's historic main campus is located along the Hudson River in Annandale-on-Hudson, New York. Bard College's initiatives reach far beyond Annandale.
